London Marconi Club Newsletter

OCTOBER 2010

Dear Members of the Marconi Club of London:

Hoping that you had a good summer, it is time, once again to meet monthly in order to bring you up to date with activities at the Marconi Club. In the long history of the Marconi Club, there have been some periods of difficulty and periods of great success. At this time in our history, the club is facing very challenging issues that I would refer to as a period of transition and adjustment. There are various undercurrents in the club as a result of members expressing their opinions. This is all well and right, as long as these opinions are expressed diplomatically and democratically, without creating more controversy, which hurts everyone and benefits no one.

The Marconi Club has and should continue to be a point of reference for the good of all members and in fact, the community of London. I encourage all our younger members to respect those who have reached a certain age, as well; I encourage the older members to give more trust to our younger members, as they are the ones who will eventually take the reins of the club. The survival of the club is dependant on what we can all do together to make it stronger and more efficient.

It is my hope, as president, that this message will be taken positively, so that we can move the club forward together in a positive direction. For anything concerning the club and within what is humanly possible, I am available to answer your questions. Today I am here and I will try to do my best together with the Directors of the Marconi Club. Tomorrow, only God knows.

Salvatore (Sam) D'Oria,

President and the Board of Directors
